LETTER FROM KERRY KENNEDY

Dear Friends,

In 2013, the Robert F. Kennedy Center for Justice and Human Rights will mark the 45th anniversary of its founding, making us one of the longest running human rights organizations in the world.

In the lead-up to this milestone, 2012 was a year of growth, achievement, and long range vision. Through RFK Partners for Human Rights, we successfully beat back a bill in the Ugandan Parliament that would have levied the death penalty against sexual minorities, and we partnered with human rights defenders working on the ground for freedom of speech in Zimbabwe, self-determination in Western Sahara, indigenous rights in Mexico, and beyond. Through RFK Speak Truth To Power, we brought human rights education to more than one million students around the world, from Cambodia to California, and from pre-school to law school. Through RFK Compass, we convened an ongoing dialogue on fiduciary responsibility with regards to human rights, labor issues, and corporate governance with the largest institutional investors in the world.

In Florence, Italy, RFK Europe provided human rights education programs to schools across the continent, and is in the final stages of launching the RFK Europe Training Institute, a global forum for training human rights activists and grassroots organizations.

The RFK Center was founded in 1968 by Robert Kennedy's family and friends to carry forward his unfinished work. Each of these core program areas are linked by a common commitment to his quest, "to tame the savageness of man and make gentle the life of this world."

The faith and commitment of our supporters is what makes all of this possible. I am proud to present to you the 2012 Annual Report of the Robert F. Kennedy Center for Justice and Human Rights.

Warmly,
Kerry Kennedy
President

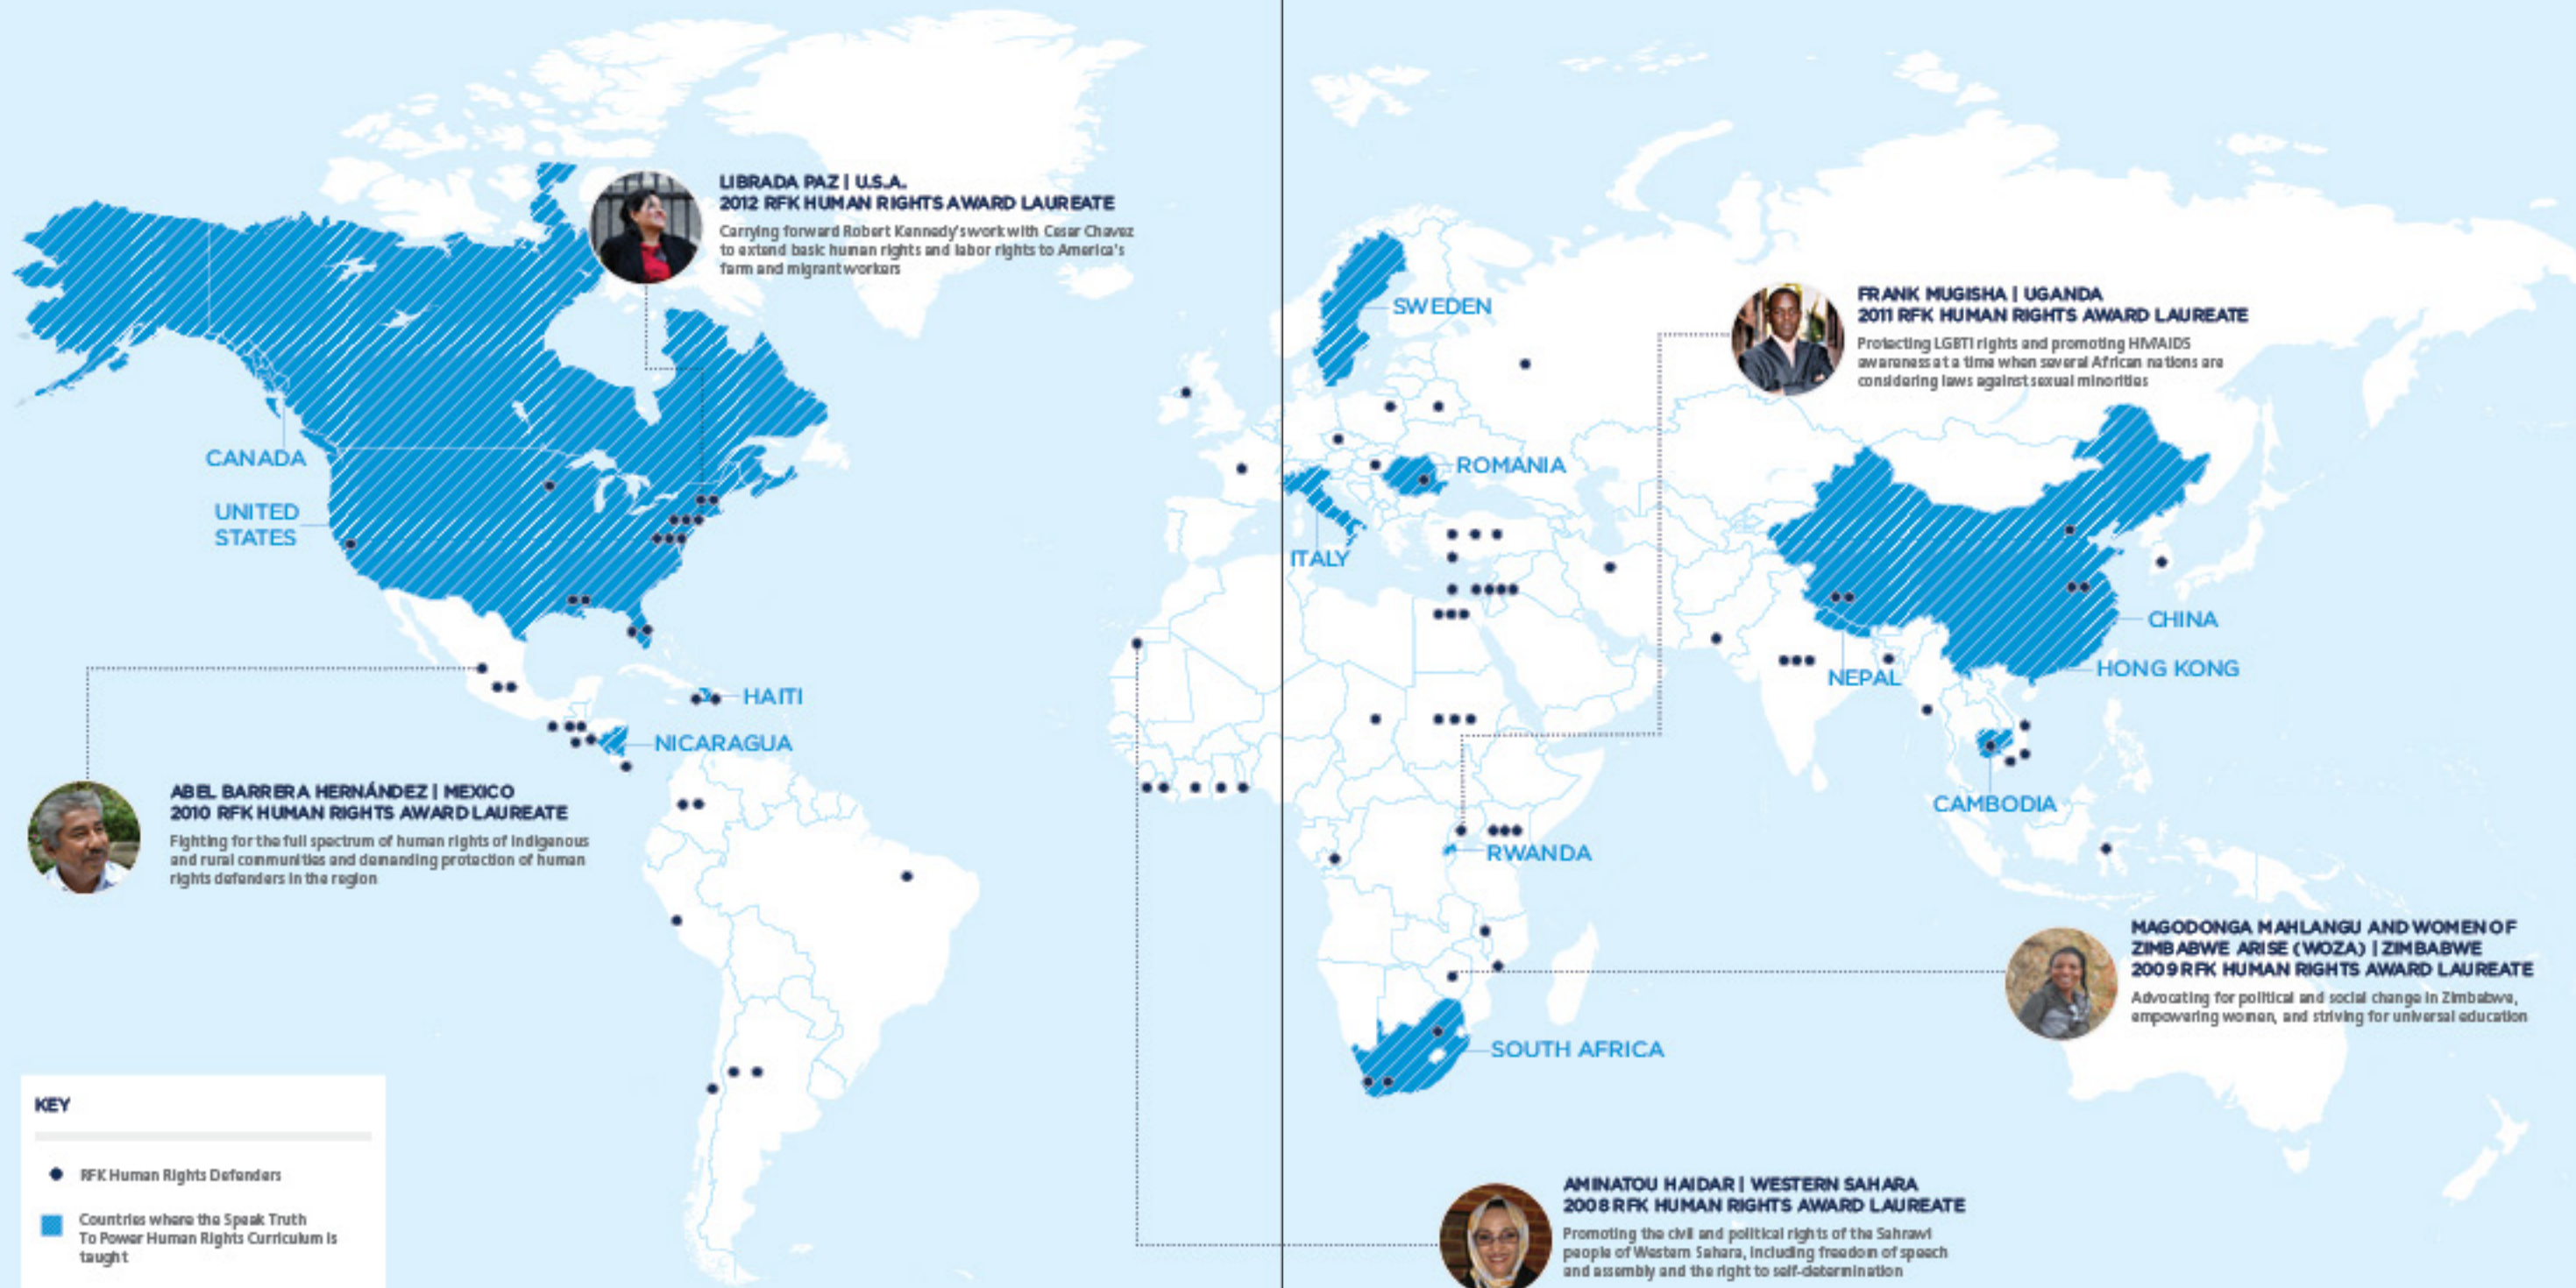

IN 2013, THE RFK CENTER WELCOMES ROBERT SMITH AS BOARD CHAIR AND THANKS OUTGOING CHAIR ORIN KRAMER FOR THREE YEARS OF TRANSFORMATIVE LEADERSHIP.

HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE FIELD

RFK PARTNERS FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Working with individuals and organizations worldwide to fight discrimination and build a more just and peaceful world.

Our Newest Partnership LIBRADA PAZ (USA)

The RFK Center presented the 2012 RFK Human Rights Award to New Yorker Librada Paz, a former farmworker turned activist who has followed in the footsteps of Robert Kennedy and Cesar Chavez as a leader in the farmworkers' labor rights struggle. Forty-five years since RFK turned America's attention to farm and migrant workers' rights by breaking fast alongside Chavez, the RFK Center and Librada Paz are partnering to pass the Farmworkers' Fair Labor Practices Act.

New York's 60,000 farmworkers live under the cruel vestiges of Jim Crow, denied a day of rest each week, overtime pay, collective bargaining rights, disability insurance, and a safe and sanitary work environment.

"PAZ IS LIVING PROOF OF THOSE IMMORTAL WORDS KENNEDY AND CHAVEZ ONCE CHANTED TOGETHER IN CALIFORNIA: SI SE PUEDE. YES, WE CAN."

—New York Daily News

WORKING HAND-IN-HAND WITH HUMAN RIGHTS DEFENDERS

to Leverage their Work Globally

- When the Ugandan Parliament threatened to pass sweeping anti-homosexuality legislation that would levy the death penalty against the LGBTI community, the RFK Center fronted a global campaign and led an international delegation to stop the bill from coming to a vote, connecting 2011 RFK Laureate Frank Mugisha with nearly 50 prominent American Christian leaders and Archbishop Desmond Tutu to galvanize support.
- When the UN failed to report on human rights as part of the peacekeeping mission in Western Sahara, the RFK Center led an international delegation beyond Morocco's militarized border, spoke to those living in Western Sahara and the Algerian refugee camps firsthand, and published a landmark report that shed light on 30 years of human rights violations by Moroccan security forces against the Sahrawi people.
- When the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights granted a public hearing on violations against migrant and farmworker in the U.S., the RFK Center brought its experts—Librada Paz of New York and Lucas Benitez of Florida—to testify about the violence, discrimination, and abuse that their clients face, from the dairy farms of Albany to the tomato fields of Immokalee.
- When 2009 Laureate Magodonga Mahlangu and other political activists from Women of Zimbabwe Arise were arbitrarily detained by local police, the RFK Center exposed rising violence and suppression against Zimbabwe's peaceful protesters as the nation approached its first election since the chaotic 2008 vote.

"THE RFK HUMAN RIGHTS AWARD GIVES ME COURAGE TO CONTINUE DOING THE WORK I'M DOING. IT SENDS OUT A MESSAGE, NOT ONLY TO MY COUNTRY BUT TO OTHER COUNTRIES THAT CRIMINALIZE HOMOSEXUALITY."

—Frank Mugisha, Uganda

HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE COURT

International Strategic Litigation Unit

This year, RFK Partners for Human Rights launched a strategic litigation unit, which will bring high impact human rights cases before regional mechanisms and domestic courts. This new arm of the PHR program will work alongside the advocacy team to spur legal and governmental change in defense of human rights, including the 2013 campaign for New York State's Farmworkers' Fair Labor Practices Act.

SANTIAGO CANTON

Joins the RFK Center

In 2012, the RFK Center welcomed Santiago Canton as Director of RFK Partners for Human Rights. Mr. Canton brings decades of experience as a leading voice in global human rights and international law, and comes to RFK Center after 11 years as Executive Secretary of the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights.

HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE CLASSROOM

RFK SPEAK TRUTH TO POWER

Human rights education for more than half a million students a year, from pre-school to law school, from Cambodia, to Calabria, to California.

In 2012, the RFK Center welcomed Dr. Deborah Temkin—who formerly headed the Obama administration’s efforts on bullying prevention—to design and lead a bullying prevention program building upon Speak Truth To Power’s efforts to help young people identify as human rights defenders. The new initiative uniquely focuses on creating the environments that prevent bullying before it starts.

Developed in partnership with the Harvard Graduate School of Education’s Making Caring Common Project, and with support from Chrysler Group and the Lefkofsky Family Foundation, RFK Project SEATBELT (Safe Environments Achieved Through Bullying prevention, Engagement, Leadership, & Teaching respect) provides research-based resources for parents, educators, and community members to effectively prevent bullying. The initiative will launch in June 2013 at www.projectseatbelt.org with a national ad campaign sponsored by Chrysler and with pilot programs in Washington, D.C.; Chicago, Illinois; Bridgeport, Connecticut; and San Francisco, California.

First Annual STTP VIDEO CONTEST

In 2012, the RFK Center partnered with the New York State United Teachers to launch a student video contest challenging young people to study the Speak Truth To Power human rights curriculum and produce a 3-to-6 minute video on a human rights defender who inspires them. The first annual award went to the BOCES Technical High School near Albany, New York, whose video on environmentalist, political activist, and Green Belt Movement founder Wangari Maathai inspired them to launch a recycling program in their school. Students gathered discarded plastic bags destined for a landfill and crocheted them into handbags sold to benefit charity.

The students were then invited to the 2012 Tribeca Film Festival where their Speak Truth To Power video was screened to Festival audiences.

“I CAN FIRMLY STATE THAT WITHOUT SPEAK TRUTH TO POWER, SEVERAL OF MY STUDENTS MAY HAVE ABANDONED THEIR EDUCATION. THE VIDEO CONTEST AND THE CURRICULUM BECAME A VERY BRIGHT AND POSITIVE SPOT AT OUR CENTER.”

—Principal, BOCES School, Saratoga, New York, Winners of the 2012 Student Video Contest

Dr. Mohammed Yunus, founder of Grameen Bank, teaches Speak Truth To Power to a Chicago Public School STTP classroom during the 2012 World Summit of Nobel Laureates (see page 12)

“REFLECTING RFK’S DEEP PASSION AND RELENTLESS DRIVE TOWARD DEFENDING THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS, STTP PROFOUNDLY TRANSFORMS STUDENTS’ VIEW OF THE WORLD AND INSPIRES THEM TOWARDS SOCIAL ACTIVISM. SIMPLY STATED, IT CHANGES LIVES!”

—Joanne Marien, former Superintendent, Somers Central School District, New York

STTP Director John Heffernan with STTP Defender Archbishop Desmond Tutu in Sweden.

One Curriculum COUNTLESS LESSONS

There is no one-size-fits-all approach. What makes the STTP program so effective is the flexibility of its lesson plans, which are Common Core aligned and adapted to all grade levels and most academic subjects. Teachers have reported using STTP in lessons on geography, government, psychology, and even math. More importantly, the RFK Center works with local partners to ensure that the social and cultural sensitivities of the students are reflected in their STTP lesson plans.

The STTP Curriculum: EDUCATION
ENGAGEMENT
ENCOURAGEMENT
EXPERIENCE

In 2012, the RFK Speak Truth To Power human rights curriculum...

- Launched in Sweden and Canada, which joined the global STTP network alongside Cambodia, Haiti, Hong Kong, Italy, Nepal, Nicaragua, Romania, Rwanda, South Africa, and the United States, and added the cities Chicago, Illinois; Los Angeles, California; and Bucyrus, Ohio to the U.S. network of schools
- Expanded to serve students from pre-school to law school
- Added 16 new lesson plans on Nobel Peace Prize winners, RFK Laureate Librada Paz, and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy in coordination with HBO’s documentary ETHEL, and debuted a new unit called Become a Defender
- Released a new Mandarin translation for students in China and Taiwan
- Trained 10,000 teachers and monks in Cambodia with a focus on provinces with a Khmer stronghold
- Distributed education packs to 500,000 students in Italy alone and signed a Memorandum of Understanding in Lucca, Tuscany, the first city to make human rights education mandatory

HUMAN RIGHTS IN A WORLD FORUM

RFK CENTER HOSTS THE 12TH WORLD SUMMIT OF NOBEL PEACE LAUREATES

On April 23-25, the RFK Center partnered with the Chicago Community Trust and Chicago Public Schools to bring the first World Summit of Nobel Peace Prize Laureates held in North America.

The RFK Center arranged for the State Department to live-stream all three days of the Summit to those unable to attend in person. A message from Secretary of State Hillary Clinton was broadcast to every U.S. Embassy in the world and President Barack Obama spoke to the crowd via satellite. President Bill Clinton and Mayor Rahm Emanuel addressed the audience, and actor Sean Penn was honored with the Peace Summit Award for his work in Haiti.

THE RFK CENTER'S CORE PROGRAMS CAME TOGETHER to make Chicago a hub for human rights discussions during the week of events

RFK SPEAK TRUTH TO POWER AT THE WORLD SUMMIT OF NOBEL PEACE LAUREATES

STTP lesson plans on Nobel Peace Prize winners were taught in Chicago public schools for several months before seventeen Nobel Prize winners, including Mikhail Gorbachev and Muhammad Yunus, visited students at their schools. Students from 26 local schools attended, and a micro-site created in partnership with Scholastic, Inc. broadcast live-streams of the Summit to nearly 280,000 more students with the help of thousands of teachers across the country.

RFK COMPASS AT THE WORLD SUMMIT OF NOBEL PEACE LAUREATES

The first-ever Compass Midwest Regional Conference coincided with the Summit, bringing Mayor Rahm Emanuel, Muhammad Yunus, and others to speak to the Compass community on human rights and global investment practices.

RFK PARTNERS FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AT THE WORLD SUMMIT OF NOBEL PEACE LAUREATES

Joining the Nobel Laureates in Chicago were the RFK Human Rights Award Laureates—Abel Barrera, Stephen Bradberry, and Frank Mugisha—who helped ensure that indigenous rights, community rights, and LGBTI rights were part of the conversation at this historic summit. Through the events, Frank Mugisha connected with faith leaders across the country who later co-signed a letter denouncing Uganda's draft bill to outlaw homosexuality.

“AS YOU LISTEN TO THE STORIES OF THE NOBEL LAUREATES, YOU WILL NOTE THEY ALL HAVE ONE QUALITY IN COMMON: COURAGE. COURAGE IS BRAVERY (A WILLINGNESS TO OVERCOME FEAR), COMBINED WITH COMPASSION (A WILLINGNESS TO ACT ON BEHALF OF OTHERS).”

HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE BIRTHPLACE OF THE RENAISSANCE RFK EUROPE

Based in Florence, Italy, the RFK Center's European partner organization, RFK Europe, was created in 2005 to promote and expand the work of the RFK Center, with a focus on bringing human rights education and advocacy programs to European schools and communities.

STTP IN ITALY

Italy is the most active nation partner in the Speak Truth To Power network:

Since 2008, RFK Europe has...

 TRAINED

TEACHERS

BROUGHT HUMAN RIGHTS EDUCATION TO

 33 PRIMARY SCHOOLS AND

319 SECONDARY SCHOOLS

EDUCATING MORE THAN

 HALF A MILLION
STUDENTS EACH YEAR

RFK TRAINING INSTITUTE

The RFK Training Institute is housed within RFK Europe and extends the culture and practice of human rights worldwide by training activists, professionals, government officials, students, and all those who work in the field of human rights. In addition to its offerings with the RFK Center, the facility is available to other NGOs, companies, and groups who want to host trainings.

On June 18-19, 2012, RFK Europe organized the first in a series of groundbreaking international human rights training courses focusing on the impact and influence of social media on the promotion of human rights. Activists from 15 nations gathered at Le Murate to train on how to create change in the digital era.

HUMAN RIGHTS TUESDAY NIGHTS

Since January 2012, RFK Europe has organized Human Rights Tuesday Nights, monthly meetings during which experts openly debate issues related to human rights. Each event takes place at the Caffè Letterario de Le Murate in Florence and is streamed live on the radio station Controradio reaching 10,000 people per episode.

BEATRICE: "Developing empathy and a sense of responsibility."

FRANCESCA: "Becoming aware of the importance of personal commitment in defending human rights."

ERIKA: "Improving my ability to listen so I can communicate with others better."

GRETA: "Asking myself what we should do to take action as individuals?"

SPOTLIGHT ON LE MURATE

The RFK Center's European branch in Florence, Italy, is headquartered at the "Le Murate" complex, a former prison converted into a center for human rights and peace studies. Florence was the first state in the world to abolish the death penalty, banning it in 1786.

The City of Florence and the RFK Center entered into a partnership to develop programs, projects, and activities that would use the unique structure at Le Murate and location in Florence to their full potential. A key element of the agreement is that through the "cyber dissidents" project, the RFK Training Institute will host and train human rights activists who use social media as an advocacy tool.

U.S. ELECTIONS WATCH

In November 2012, a two-day course on the U.S. elections wrapped up with an evening plenary, during which an audience of students and academics watched live poll projections and heard speeches from U.S. Consul in Florence Sarah Craddock Morrison; pollster John Zogby; former Missouri Congressman Dick Gephardt; Clinton administration official Phil Johnston; former Ohio Congressman Dennis Kucinich; and Republican strategist Wesley Donehue.

Off the page and into the classroom:

In 2012, STTP defenders GABOR GOMBOS (Disability Rights—Hungary), STEPHEN BRADBERRY (Racial and Poverty Justice—USA), MARINA PISKLAKOVA (Domestic Violence—Russia), and AMINATOU HAIDAR (Self-determination—Western Sahara) came to Italy to meet with RFK Europe students and supporters

RFK Europe Student Journalism Awards

In May 2012, RFK Europe and the City of Florence organized the third edition of the European RFK Journalism Award. The 2012 theme was "Human Rights and Social Media" and the winners were:

Social Media: Renata Radic-Dragic (Bosnia)
Photography: Majid Saeedi (Iran)

College: Carmel Delshad, Kirsti Itameri (USA)
Italian High School: Dunia Bousati (Italy)

THE ROBERT F. KENNEDY BOOK AWARD

In 2012, Kathryn Sikkink's The Justice Cascade was named as the recipient of RFK Book Award, an annual award presented to the book that, in the words of Award Founder Arthur Schlesinger, "faithfully and forcefully reflects Robert Kennedy, his concern for the poor and powerless, his struggle for honest and even-handed justice, his conviction that a decent society must assure all young people a fair chance, and his faith that a free democracy can act to remedy disparities of power and opportunity."

RFK SPECIAL PROJECTS

RFK JUVENILE JUSTICE

The RFK Juvenile Justice Collaborative joins forces with Massachusetts' RFK Children's Action Corps, founder of an innovative model for alternatives to juvenile incarceration, to bring together the practice of direct service and the power of advocacy to strengthen the rights of juveniles and urge more effective policies for adjudicated youth transitioning back into their communities.

The program educates national policy makers on key youth re-entry issues, including youth access to education upon reentry and improved coordination of federal reentry policies and programs for youth so that it can support youth leaving the juvenile justice system to successfully re-enter their communities and lead healthy, safe, and successful lives.

In 2012, RFK Juvenile Justice teamed up with RFK Speak Truth To Power and Washington College of Law to bring law students to the Maya Angelou Academy, the school that serves Washington, D.C.'s secure juvenile detention facility, to teach the STTP human rights curriculum. RFK Juvenile Justice hosted a Youth Roundtable on Capitol Hill for congressional staff to hear first-hand from youth who have been affected by the juvenile justice system.

HEALTH eVILLAGES

In 2012, Health eVillages worked to improve the quality of care in some of the poorest, most underserved areas of the globe, by empowering medical professionals in Uganda, Haiti, China, and Kenya with mobile health tools and trainings that save lives.

Health eVillages provides state-of-the-art mobile health technology, including medical reference and clinical decision support resources, to medical professional in the most challenging clinical environments around the world. In 2013, the program will launch its first U.S. sites in the Louisiana Gulf Coast, an area still reeling from the health impacts of the 2010 Deepwater Horizon oil spill.

RFK YOUNG LEADERS

Inspired by the vision of Robert F. Kennedy, the RFK Young Leaders (RFKYL) are dedicated to empowering young human rights defenders, and motivating a diverse community of young people to take action for social justice and human rights. In the words of one of our founding members, "Our work is to inspire a generation of young people who have a feeling something is wrong in the world but lack a channel to fix it."

The RFKYL network includes hundreds of young professionals, from a wide range of fields—business, art, education, social media, information technology, film, finance, academia, law, social services—who all share a commitment to effecting change in creative and meaningful ways.

"THIS WORLD DEMANDS THE QUALITIES OF YOUTH; NOT A TIME OF LIFE BUT A STATE OF MIND, A TEMPER OF THE WILL, A QUALITY OF THE IMAGINATION, A PREDOMINANCE OF COURAGE OVER TIMIDITY, OF THE APPETITE FOR ADVENTURE OVER THE LIFE OF EASE."

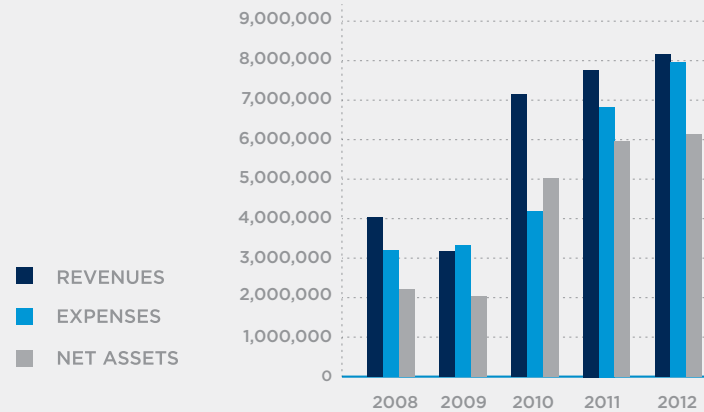

—Robert F. Kennedy

RFKC GROWTH

A LOOK AT THE 2012 NUMBERS

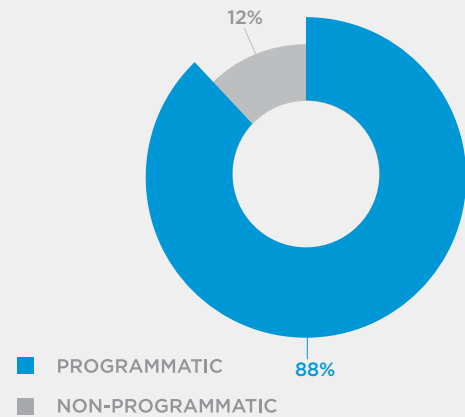

Fiscal year 2012 was one of moderate financial growth to another record high in RFK Center revenues, continuing a trajectory begun in 2005. Revenues in 2012 were $8,150,866. Expenses were $7,968,978, reflecting increases to cover the organization's programming growth. Net assets at the close of 2012 were $6,128,013.

GIVING: YOUR IMPACT

$250 buys a life-saving Health eVillages device for a doctor in Uganda, China, Haiti, the Louisiana Gulf Coast, or another medically underserved area

$500 sends 25 farmworkers from the fields of New York State to the Capitol in Albany to march for farmworkers rights legislation that Robert Kennedy called for 45 years ago

$1,000 brings a teacher to Washington, D.C., for the Speak Truth To Power Summer Training Institute

$5,000 pays for a human rights activist or a cyber-dissident—like those who gave voice to the Arab Spring on Twitter, Facebook, and blogs around the Middle East and North Africa—to study capacity building in cyber security and human rights methods at the RFK Training Institute in Florence, Italy

$8,000 funds one month of advocacy, like the work to prevent Uganda's anti-homosexuality bill from becoming law

$10,000 brings Speak Truth To Power's human rights education and training program to a new school district in the United States, Italy, or Cambodia
